Jaipur: Ashiana Housing and Manglam Builders have come together to construct a new township — Rangoli Gardens — near Vaishali Nagar. Spread over 25 acres, the new project is expected to be an example of “garden living” with 8.5 acres of parks within the complex.

“Rangoli Gardens will offer a different experience of living for its residents. Our latest offering provides contemporary luxury living and world-class infrastructure,” said Varun Gupta, director, Ashiana Housing.

Located 1.4 km drive from Vaishali Nagar, it will be one of the most centrally located townships in Jaipur. The sprawling integrated township promises to blend nature with state-of-the-art lifestyle to give its residents luxury and comfort.

“Every home is designed intelligently, imbibing the most important elements of aesthetic architecture. With optimum utilisation of space and crafted with elegance, the apartments have been planned to suit the tastes of a style-admiring populace,” Varun said.

“Rangoli Gardens boasts world class infrastructure of roads, water and power supply. It comes with the power back up of 750 watt which ensures uninterrupted power supply,” he claimed. Besides, the buildings are designed to be earthquake resistant. It comes with the accessories of a gym, community hall, reading lounge, badminton or tennis court and a swimming pool
